

Is history a big lie? Understanding Tartaria

From my many years of research a picture has formed, and I might add, a very palatable image in which a more likely reality offers up the idea that previous to the Crusades, Christendom was a huge realm with monarchs overseeing each nation under the authority of a Church that represented the message in the Gospels. That said, as we exist post Crusades we must also ask...do we know what those Gospels taught?

Pre-Crusades, the system was administered through the Abbeys and Monasteries, the biggest and most powerful of which in Europe, was the Abbey at Cluny in Burgundy. From 909 AD, this monastery was taken over by the warrior cast, the Carolingian dynasty of Charlemagne, who then set about, as the Holy Roman Emperor, inverting the Benedictine doctrine on land ownership and became a powerful religious order that required land and more land, property and more land and even some more. Land became their currency. What they carried out was the formation of the feudal system which they thrust on Northern France and onto England in 1066.

Something changed around a thousand years ago, the once global empire collapsed and in rushed a lesser priestcraft that has moved to hide and demolish all evidence of the old empire headed, according to Druid lore, out of the Blessed Isle of Ireland. The new and twisted doctrine was perhaps born out of the Talmud and administered into the west through the Druid Dis. Perhaps Rome did too much of a job on the original Druids of Albion, a vacuum created and in ran another elite?

The grid was changed to ensure all magical efforts served the inverse of the tree, this new empire is built in the tunnels of Set which feeds the Qlippothic world and shifts the matrix into hell. The architecture they are hiding under the title of Tartaria is more than likely the old advanced empire that operated according to the grid brought about by Jesus and his thousand year reign, that this new creed was headed not in Russia at all, which from 1917 has been the playground of the Bolshevik, an incursion that would shift the Russian Orthodox Church away from Christ and into the hands of the atheist, the ones who hate as the only function.

This was an easy shift given the pre-Mongol invasion under the 35-year reign of Vladimir's son Yaroslav established Russia, with its capital at Kiev, as a kingdom in the mainstream of medieval Europe. It also secures the throne for a dynasty which survives in direct descent for six centuries (till the time of Boris Godunov), even though those centuries see much diminution of Russian territory and a shift of power from Kiev to Moscow.

Yaroslav turns Kiev into a glorious Christian city in the Byzantine tradition, founding monasteries, adding a spectacular Golden Gate to the town's fortress, and building a cathedral dedicated, like Justinian's great example in Constantinople, to holy wisdom – Santa Sophia. He also followed Justinian in commissioning a codification of Russia's laws. The legal code known as Russkaya Pravda (Russian Truth) is founded in his reign.

In essence, the Tatar Horde better known as the Mongols became the enemy to this Byzantine Russia after Kiev's initial trading advantage in its access to the wide steppes of eastern Europe and central Asia would be disrupted. A Russian chronicle of 1054 provides the first mention of the arrival on the steppes of a fiercely marauding group of nomads, the Kipchak Turks (known to the Russians as the Polovtsy). The Kipchaks frequently disrupt Kiev's trade, and it is a weakened city which is conquered in 1169 by a rival member of the royal family based in Vladimir. A greater disaster follows in the form of the Mongols, who destroy the city in 1240. And during the following century holy Kiev, the birthplace of Russian Orthodox Christianity, is annexed by pagan Lithuania.

I would suggest that the Crusades were the portal for the influx of the Magi controlled post captivity House of Judah, from which the subversion of Christian kingdoms would begin across Europe through Russia, and from that same base, they also moved east. This places the little spoken of landmass between Russia and China into the hotspot for the ruling elites, of which little is known in the public arena. I would suggest the Magi through their now controlled Knights of the Temple enabled the the same to control a powerful secret society in the heart of the west, offering this new power on the block the title of King of Jerusalem in league with Saladin in the pact of 1150, pulling the Mongol Hord, the Templars and Sunni Islam, under the wing of the Talmudist's.

They would set out to create the centre of this new money and power Hungary movement in Western Rome, Italy, commencing the building of the Vatican complex as we today know it, on top of what was there before, and to then claim it as the centre of Christendom from the start, in order they could sideline Constantinople and move to oppose it. The Vatican oversees the canon and thus land law, the Holy See, which controls the Vatican, the Inner City of London and Washington D.C. has moved to shift land law into its own jurisdiction, that of Admiralty and Maritime Law through the use of the Birth Certificate as opposed to the canon Title, the Live Birth Record. Study.

The last thousand years would be the history of concealment of the real heritage of Europe with a slow and methodical undermining of the priesthood, from which they were able to replace the truth with the garbage we are offered today, perhaps the main deception laying siege against the man Jesus and declaring him the Christ. But of course that is a subject unfinished, these are only my thoughts built up over many years of study. With that in mind I present my thoughts on the long lost empire of Tartaria. Often over the years have I found myself staring at the world map and the huge expanse that is Siberia and wondered....why has this place been left alone by the sickness that is the financier?

At no point during my days under education was the huge landmass to the east of Russia, inclusive of Siberia, ever discussed outside of a mere fleeting mention to present a culture, and I took geography as a course.

Then you find Tartaria or more commonly known as Tartary. Dipping your nose inside the idea that is Tartary, many things that are taken as sacrosanct are thrown into total and complete disarray.

If as is being projected the origin of the white race is to be found in the Caucasus, that Iran by definition of its name, is so named to depict her origin as a construct of the Aryan, that the Bolsheviks sole intent was to wipe out the Aryan race, or the original Russian, then we can better understand that the white race as a whole has a serious enemy. An enemy that appears to have full control over our governing machinery through the incorporation of the State from which they have managed to set our nations populations to war against ourselves.

The first paradigm to be challenged would be what academia offers up as chronology. Not a new concept at all which Isaac Newton presented to his Queen Anne when he supplied a chronology of ancient kingdoms. However, that is the only point on which the two histories have affinity, because if Tartaria is indeed a point of fact, then Newton was cementing the history offered by the Biblical tradition as the only history post Crusades. Newton was said to be the last of the great Magi, an Insider, which then suggests the same are in full control of the entire Hebrew Tradition.

The second would be to contemplate the fact, everything your entire experience has forced fed you to accept as the real, both in a historical context and in the moment or in the now, is perhaps the biggest deception ever to have been accepted as fact by a global population in which a future they are coerced to vote in, will cancel them out.

The third is to confront the idea that there once was a global empire, not that long ago, which broke up when certain members of the trade agreement wanted more and moved into a role that they called the parasite, what the Christian tradition would call Judas, and demolished the long held acceptance of each others cultures within their own boundaries, which had served to allow for a peaceful existence by all the nations in agreement, without everyone having to be uniform. The remnants of the Tartar empire are thought to have been completely demolished by about 1733, but at the very same time through the coming Catherine the Great, neither Russian nor great, the Russian empire was about to expand as a vassal of the Prussian's as the Magi through war, conquered great swathes of Germany and the British Isles.

We must also consider that the book burning frenzy that took place across Europe, claimed to be a holy act in the burning of the works of Luther, was in fact a removal of the books that perhaps gave the real truth about what Rome was, in order a new Rome, the one we have today, could be birthed to bedazzle the populations through a false heritage and a completely contrary liturgy.

The main narrative of the currently promoted story on Tartary presents the idea that a huge and highly technologically advanced northern hemisphere empire existed, that after some dubious internal decisions were enacted, the consequences triggered a series of catastrophic events that saw many of the inhabitants flee. That since at least the Middle Ages, all evidence of the empire was systematically deconstructed until another force finally killed off all the survivors by the mid 1700s, from which all references to the empire Tartaria, would be omitted from all future academic works. That the Tartars were the good guys without mentioning the fact, the Tartars are the Mongols and affiliated tribes.

My thoughts steer towards the Mongol invasion being a cover for a much larger attack on the entire landmass itself, leaving history seeing only the Mongol as native to those lands. Then you find research, backed by Google Earth, that suggests a massive nuclear conflagration and a series of cataclysms was also in play, but the historians tell us we are on a linear timeline of technological advancement. Could the Mongols have been the liberators of the landmass back into a Tartarian tribes hands? What I do know from my Chinese studies is the fact, China and Mongolia were not on good terms, ever. Either way what is presented as history appears to be incorrect. In Israel it is now being discussed that over 90% of Russian Jews are not actually Jews, such a question raises yet another potential, a need to include the fact that Khazaria was completely conquered by the Prussian's through Catherine the Great, this then filled the pogroms, we are now at a point where we beg the question...who really controls Israel?

The world that has been offered as history, since at least the Crusades, is but a fraction of the truth, and moreover, what we today accept as our foundation, is a fiction created by the parasitic factions that would build upon the remnants of a greater global civilisation and claim it as its own. The system they are pushing over the globe is best classed as the Mystical Body of Satan.

On the back of the revelations of this empire, the out-there brigade are making their move upon it, the first I came across was the flat earth division, an immediate red flag, and then it was the obligatory claims of extraterrestrial technologies that came out as the second.

I then learned of a growing idea of a mud flood event not that long ago which lead to a concept they are calling the restart.[1] If the giant pyramid and other huge complex buildings were in fact a part of one ancient global empire, then we could indeed be speaking of technologies such as how to use sonics to move huge blocks of stone. The miss-use of this technology, we are told, took place in Atlantis, which was an agreement between 10 empires, that moved to takeover the world for itself. If sonics were employed and the earth began to vibrate, then Egypt and all other buried archeology would have sunk into the liquified soil and sand, thus offering explanation for the many buried cities and complexes around the world. Then there is the idea of a great flood which could create the same mud fill we can see in many cities around the world, but the line being covered with the mud flood idea places the event only centuries ago and not millennia. Either way the truth is being hidden.

5G Could well be the means to creating an earth liquefaction through sonic vibration...

The idea itself does have teeth but from my browsing of it so far, appear to miss out the fact, when wondering why there are so many orphans during the last two centuries in Europe, do not connect the war dots, which from the late 1700s through up to the present, was war. They then commenced the three World War strategy into the 1900s. Children and the movement of, has been a constant through the centuries of war. They kill off the adults and are left to do as they please with the remaining children. In Britain the City of London exported hundreds of thousands of British children across the commonwealth while importing blacks and Asians back into Britain. In Germany towards the end of the Second World War as the Bolshevik Russians entered Germany, over 1.5 million German women were gang raped to death, leaving only children.

More than that, war leaders of the Second World War acted to ensure a huge encroachment into Europe by Bolshevik Russia.

Heading the charge for a Russian controlled empire called Tartaria is Alexander Fomenko, but the old books I have read so far show clearly that the main enemies of Tartaria are the Muscovites, the Mohammedans and the Rothschild British East India. His credentials come from a Russia under the Soviet Bolshevik regime which presents a big red flag, this is especially important when contemplating the real motives behind the rise of the new power in the West, the Russian Orthodox Church. Could Fomenko be the rallying call to push Russia up the slippery devils pole as we transcend the West and head into the prison from the East?

Tartaria was a global empire spread by the Irish.

With the idea of Tartaria, and having seen the Inuit statement that the Earth had shifted on its axis a couple of years ago, an image of the Earth from above over the North Pole, launched an idea that Tartaria supports.

Was the old age we call Atlantis the pivotal landmass point that today is the North Pole, surrounded as it remains today, by Europe, Scandinavia, Asia, and the Americas, but in its days of glory was positioned in what today is the West? Lemuria would then be what is said to be being un-iced in Antarctica.

The idea would cancel out the historical programme as we have been led to believe, that to sail between the Continents beyond the Middle Ages required a huge undertaking from Men way above the normal in intelligence and tenacity, and more to the point, in keeping historical chronology in tune with Scaliger's fraud of a historical devolved humanity evolving to the expression we suffer today.

I suggest it is further evidence that the Russian Orthodox Church is the Church of Zion, and, in forming the huge deception for the Mohammedans to absorb, suggests that this new energised political Islam is but a front for the new world order to be used as the subverter of Gods creation. Or, they are destroying the creation and replacing it with Islam the sword.

In essence we can clearly see that in the Northern Hemisphere there once was a great empire held together under a trade agreement. That something happened within the empire that caused a schism, the perpetrators being called the parasites, or Judah/Judas. Hence, there is Israel the nation and then there are Jews and the fake and un-holy Templar Israel.

Once there were the Israelites who became imprisoned by Judah that became known collectively as Judaism. Judah would reform behind the Khazar and birth Sabbateanism that would move to create a new prison for the tribes in a place called Palestine. Today they call that prison Israel and hope to slaughter at least two thirds of those living in Israel to activate the slaughter in Europe.

458 BC-One day in this year the petty Palestinian tribe of Judah (earlier disowned by the Israelites) produced a racial creed, the disruptive effect of which on subsequent human affairs may have exceeded that of explosives or epidemics. This was the day on which the theory of the master-race was set up as "the Law".

The Controversy of Zion Douglas Reed 1951

It is also said that the returning Levites after the Babylonian captivity were in fact full fledged black magician's who took root within the tribes of Judah and Benjamin who had been outcast by the Israelites.

So we have a bit of a puzzle to be solved... did those tribes imprisoned by the Temple break free? If this is the case it would then follow that from within those tribes imprisoned by Judah, many fled West, they made home in Europe and Britain and showed themselves in the following heraldry, and that the fake Israel in Palestine is the means to re-group the tribes back into the yoke of the subversive tribe of Judas. The other side to that idea would be that the Israelites as a whole, are the evil doers. If we move back into the the Old Testament at the time immediately following the Exodus, it states that the Israelites used the Ark of the Covenant as a weapon of war, against the Amorites, Midianites and Philistines.

What this suggests is that the use of energy weapons has been going on for over a thousand years, as such, they had perfected the technology to the point that it was able to take out many millions of Tartarians. The energy weapons melted cities and destroyed the civilisations of Egypt, Greece and Rome in what was the same time period as Jesus, (maybe only a thousand years ago) and were heavily influenced by what was Tartaria. One thing we do know is that history, especially chronologically, has been manipulated always to big up one particular race over others, thus what we see as ancient history is nothing of the sort, they have fabricated our heritage and pushed way back into remote history many recent historical events, that they have also expanded the extent and power of their own empires, if they ever had any.

A great insight into the history of the Tribes and also Judah which is contrary to the current narrative is the book, The Controversy of Zion Douglas Reed 1951-6 Published 1978

It would be the Queens that defeated the Hyksos in Egypt, and perhaps the real reason they have gone all out to hide such a narrative from Egyptian heritage within the network we call Academia.